About The Arts High & Arts Middle School Programs

The Arts High & Arts Middle School are special release-time programs for gifted and talented teens. They are administered by the Arts & Education Center, which has been operating the program in Middlesex County for the past 39 years. The Monmouth County Arts High School Program began in January 2004, and the Arts Middle School program in 2006. A similar Arts High and Middle School-program for school districts in Union County begins this year!

Students are selected for the program by audition. Those accepted into the program will receive classes in the literary, performing and visual arts, taught by distinguished teaching artists. The classes are taught at an advanced level and provide a rigorous curriculum for developing artistic skills and creative expression in the art form of the student's choice.

Arts High School classes are held from January to May, on Monday afternoons, from 1:30-4:30 pm for a fourteen week term. Arts High School is open to students in 9th through 12th grade. Arts Middle School classes are held from February to May, on Thursday afternoons, from 1:30-4:30 pm for a twelve week term. Arts Middle School is open to students in 6th through 8th grade.

Students will be released from their regular school classes to attend the Arts High or Arts Middle School classes. Students who are accepted into programs are responsible for making up any school work they might miss as a result of their participation. Students participating in the Arts High or Arts Middle School programs come from public and non-public school districts, and home schooled students throughout Monmouth County. Arts High Classes are held at Brookdale Community College in Lincroft, NJ. Arts Middle School classes are held at Henry Hudson Regional School, in Highlands, NJ. Roundtrip transportation is made available from the student's regular school to the program sites.

College Credit

Many of the courses in the Arts High School program can be taken for college credit. The courses have been accredited by Brookdale Community College. These credits are transferable to other colleges that accept Brookdale Community College credits. Students who register for college credit, and successfully complete their courses will receive a letter grade (in addition to an Honors, Good, Pass or Fail grade) and three college credits. Courses taken for credit require payment of an additional tuition fee to Brookdale Community College.

Fees

School districts participating in the Monmouth County program will release students from school each week to attend the program. Most participating school districts pay tuition and bus transportation fees for their students. (Other participating school districts allow students to attend but students must pay the tuition and bus transportation fees.) Check with your school district or contact the Arts & Education Center for latest information on the current tuition fees. Students are responsible for payments of an audition fee ($50 for one artform or $70 for two artforms) and an enrollment fee of $65 which is payable once a student is accepted into the program. Students may audition for more than one art form in the same season, but will be selected for only one course of study. There is an additional materials fee of $45 for students in Visual Arts, Filmmaking & Photography classes. Contact the Arts & Education Center for information.
